
With a subtle Minne-soooh-t'n accent, Jeremy hails from the land of 10,000 lakes, harsh winters and local craft beer. He currently resides in Chicago, IL where he is a husband, father and full-time art director & designer.

For over a decade Jeremy has offered a distinctive point of view with his creative solutions. As Jeremy enters into a new decade he seeks to expand his experience with purposeful creative solutions through tight strategy, focused metrics, stunning visual direction and intentional design across a greater number of contexts.

He believes in taking the time to discover, research and form solutions that are both purposeful and beautiful.
